

Pick-a-Park:

Design a Bumper Sticker for Pollinators!

People display bumper stickers to show their enthusiasm for something. Maybe you've seen ones that say, "My child is an honor roll student at The Local Elementary School." Or maybe you've seen one that says, "This car climbed Some Giant Mountain." This "Leave No Trace" bumper sticker encourages people to leave a place better than they found it.

Bumper stickers are a way people make a statement about themselves, their values, or their interests.

The theme for this year's Park Quest is "Parks for Pollinators." We're excited about pollinators and think you should be too! Many of the foods we enjoy are pollinated by animals. Do you like strawberries? Watermelon? Chocolate? Then you should thank a pollinator!

Grab your favorite drawing tools and design your own bumper sticker to support pollinators! You may want to thank your favorite pollinator or help raise awareness for the importance of pollinators. Be creative and have fun! When you're done, be sure to share it with us by emailing it to the Park Quest Coordinator: Melissa.Boyle@maryland.gov
